BHORE BLESSES MODY-LEES PACT?

Out Of The Gloaming.

"Roy's Weekly" which is more Royal and loyal than Delhi and Kabul put together writes thus with gusto about Nadirshah: "During his regime a great deal of constructive policy has been pursued." The reference must be to the gibbets constructed for his enemies.

"The country needs a strong and wise head and not a toy king" writes the same paper. Unfortunately for him he toyed too much with his enemies' heads.

Then: "Afghanistan became once again a settled state." Now at least it must be settling down in a state of coma, after so much unnatural activity—but you never can tell.

"I have often thought that a millowner and a Tantalus have much in common. Always you seem to be reaching for a reward that eludes your grasp," said the Bombay Governor. Not certainly Mr. H. P. Mody's—he will get it at the end of the year.

"To-day the earnings of labour have been reduced, yet dividends are few and far between" said Sir Frederick to his hosts. It might be, but the agents' dividends continue without a break and that's all that is wanted.

H. E. complained there was too much tendency on the part of millowners to rely on high tariffs and not enough on self-help. It's because the agents have been liberally helping themselves, that the mills are in such a condition.

The Governor referred to the absence of much Welfare Work in the mills. What more can the millowners do, since they have already prescribed fasting cure for the workers for all their ill—far better than leisure, or more pay.

We regret that our friend "the late Abkari Inspector" has taken offence at our remarks in this column, which are never meant to be taken seriously, or in a spirit of offence.

Our friend complains, "On one hand he is bitten by dog and on the other he is given seven lashes with shoes". Since we are non-violent in thought, word and deed, he must be referring to the local officials who have wronged him, and not to us.

He fears the Collector might be encouraged by our "satire." Collectors don't require encouragement; they flourish by themselves on their many allowances, and the adulation they get from poor and lesser mortals in the districts.

Senator Marconi told an interviewer that he had intercepted the word "No" after it had sped round the world several times. Sir Samuel Hoare must have also intercepted it at Whitehall and repeated it to M. R. J. when he wanted discrimination against Afrikanders.

And it might have reached even Simla and Delhi and the Viceroy's determined "No" might be the result of Marconi's radio-gram. Or it might have been picked up by even Sir George Schuster.

Then our own Home Member and the Governor must also have intercepted it, otherwise they would not have said "No" to the request of the Patel Funeral Committee. But we ought to stop here, or we might have gone on mentioning Sir John Anderson and a few other friends.

The "Daily Telegraph" writes that Anglo-Indians are "a moral obligation" on British Statesmen. We don't know what it means, for

HOARE HOLDS UP AGREEMENT

Lancashire Interests Stand In Way

Terms Offered And Accepted, But Delhi Awaits Signal From Whitehall

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT)
NEW DELHI, Nov. 14.

"WHEN WILL THE INDO-JAPANESE TALKS END?"

This is the question one hears from all quarters. The Japanese say, so far as they are concerned, they can end parleys to-day.

The Indian Delegation declares that there is no hitch on their side.

Apparently nobody is to blame except the Secretary of State whose pre-occupations in London are preventing the final conclusion of talks.

Japan accepted days ago the quota finally offered by the Government of India in respect of cotton piecegoods, while the Government of India accepted the revised quota offered by Japan for cotton bales. Specific duties on all goods affected were also settled. Thus, so far as these major issues go the Agreement should have been concluded before the 10th inst.

CLASSIFICATION.
But the Japanese raised the point that in accepting 400 million quota of piecegoods, they should not be tied to any rigid classification of goods. Naturally, they wish to put into India goods which would fetch highest prices. This would be of interest to the Indian mill industry in general, but certain mills which specialise in higher counts may be adversely affected by it. However considering the fact that these imports will be limited and will be subject to high tariff, the Indian industry may feel safe against Japanese competition.

HOARE DELAYS.
But if there is no rigid classification, Japanese goods would certainly oust Lancashire from the Indian market. This probably is the point which is worrying the Secretary of State so that the Indo-Japanese final Agreement may not be such as would hurt Lancashire's trade with India.

HITCH FROM LONDON.
The Japanese are making this point particularly important, as they declare that Indian interests are not affected and Indian Government should agree to the Japanese proposal. They even go so far as to make the whole scheme inter-dependent on this factor. The Government of India is certainly placed in a difficulty as the compromise offered by them on this point has not been accepted by Japan. Thus when the Agreement is cent per cent ready, this hitch from London on a point of small importance to India has caused delay.

The Anglo-Indians themselves would strongly resent any such mean insinuation.

The paper also adds that the "community has a strong moral claim for protection on account of its origin." Rather doubtful moral solicitude, but then Sir Henry Gidney has to be placated, for his community's doubtful origin.

PLACATING LANCASHIRE

Bhore Assures Readiness To Assist British Trade In India

NEW DELHI, Nov. 14.
The text has been released for publication of the letter addressed by Sir Joseph Bhore to Sir William Clare Lees, Leader of the United Kingdom Textile Delegation on the eve of the latter's departure from India.

Referring to the outcome of discussions, the letter says:—"I take this opportunity of stating that the Government of India are in full sympathy with the principle of such Industrial Conference as those in which you have just taken part, and they will always be prepared to consider most carefully the results of such deliberations."

They hope that the precedent now happily established will be followed in future, whenever circumstances make it opportune so to do.

ASSISTING BRITISH TRADE.
Dealing with certain representations by the Delegation about cotton and artificial silk industries, Sir Joseph Bhore assures that these representations will be carefully and sympathetically considered.

"It is impossible owing to the nature of some of your submissions to give you an immediate reply, but when the time comes for the Government to take decisions on matters in question, your representations will be borne in mind."
"You understand our economic policy has been and will be framed primarily with a view to the best interests of India. But subject to that basic condition, we are at all times ready and anxious to assist British trade and to foster and enlarge trade exchanges between Great Britain and this country."

WIDENING OTTAWA.
"You have mentioned that industries which you represent greatly regret the indeterminate character of provisions relating to their manufactures in the Trade Agreement which was concluded at Ottawa. I can give an assurance that the Government of India will enter into discussions with His Majesty's Government on this

PANIC IN SHEIKH MEMON STREET

Well-dressed Hindu Enters Pedhi And Assaults City Merchant

POLICE SAVE SITUATION

Businessmen Propose to Meet To-day to Devise Measures to Safeguard Themselves.

The whole of Sheikh Memon Street was thrown into a state of panic on Tuesday afternoon when news spread in the thickly crowded area that a respectable and prominent Cotton Merchant, had been assaulted in his pedhi by a well-dressed Hindu. The alleged assailant was pounced upon by an angry mob, and while disarming him, one of the merchants got his hand badly cut.

ASSAULT IN PEDDI.
It appears that at about 4-30 p.m. Mr. Bishambarlal was sitting in his pedhi, transacting cotton business when a well-dressed Hindu it is alleged, entered the shop and suddenly rained a number of blows on him. The news of the assault created consternation in the area, and as it was the busiest hour in Sheikh Memon Street, the locality was teeming with merchants, brokers, Marwaris and shroffs.

An angry mob soon rushed to the assistance of the merchant.

POLICE ON SCENE.
The alleged assailant was saved from severe man-handling by the timely arrival of the police, who took charge of him. It is alleged the man when arrested was brandishing a knife. One of the merchants attempted to disarm the assailant and in doing so had his hand severely cut.

FEELING OF INSECURITY.
In sympathy with the cotton merchant and from a sense of insecurity, responsible leaders of the cotton trade at meeting on Wednesday to consider the matter, whereafter, it is likely, that they will approach the Police authorities with a view to securing adequate protection.

The situation was quiet on Tuesday night in the area.

Thomas Says Irish Bills Involve Repudiation Of Treaty

LONDON, Nov. 14. (Special Cable)

Mr. J. H. Thomas announced the view of the Government that bills now before the Irish Free State Parliament amending the constitution involved a further repudiation of the Anglo-Irish treaty. The real significance of the bills was they clearly indicated the intention to gradually eliminate the Crown from the Constitution.

Mr. De Valera's ultimate aim was the creation of a United Ireland as a Republic within the British Commonwealth. Such a proposal would be totally unacceptable. Under the declaration of the Imperial Conference of 1926, the relationship between Great Britain and Dominions under the Crown must be accepted as the basis of the constitutional position of the Irish Free State within the Empire.

While the Free State was completely free to order her own affairs, membership of the Commonwealth conferred great advantages.

By her own action the Free State was risking the loss of privileges of common citizenship and the economic advantages in trade with the rest of the Empire, also the opportunity of powerful influences in international affairs.

These privileges conferred responsibilities, namely respect for the Crown, loyal observance of engagements and spirit of friendship and co-operation with other members Commonwealth.

Government desired to see the Free State taking full part in the Commonwealth, freely accepting responsibilities and enjoying privileges.

Mr. Thomas concluded if she renounced one, she could not hope to enjoy benefits of the other.

Satyapal Urges A.I.C.C. Meeting

TO GAUGE SITUATION

Suggests Mahatma & Jawahar Must Parley With Leaders

LAHORE, Nov. 14.

"I do wish a meeting of the All-India Congress Committee be convened to take stock of the present situation and shape the programme of future work, but it so seems that the members are either indifferent, or they also believe with Gandhiji that the degree of the Committee is a foregone conclusion" said Dr. Satyapal in the course of an interview to-day.

He added that he thought that perhaps it would be quite a feasible plan if the Mahatma and Pandit Jawaharlal summoned a few nationalists from each Province and formed a precise idea of the existing circumstances and then shaped the programme of action which might be placed before the All-India Congress Committee for decision and final approval.—A. DIE-HARDS PARADE TERRORIST BOGEY

Fear Congress Majority In New Legislatures And Hence Oppose Transfer Of Law And Order To Ministers

(Special Cable.)

LONDON, Nov. 14.

The enactment of permanent legislation and creation of a special portfolio to combat terrorism in Bengal was advocated by Mills in a memorandum to the Select Committee yesterday.

The memorandum traced the history of the revolutionary movement with a view to showing that whenever special powers lapsed, terrorism had broken out progressively but more menacingly. It referred to the effect of the previous amnesties and said that the movement was anything but moribund and if detenus are now released the Intelligence branch could not hope to cope with the situation.

GRAVER THREATS.
Mills advocated therefore a permanent legislation on the lines of the present Act. He proceeded to refer "even graver threat" owing to the terrorists practically dominating the Congress in Bengal and the probability of the Congress securing a majority in the Legislature. He said that if the Minister responsible for law and order was in close touch with the terrorists, the whole Intelligence system would collapse beyond resuscitation. Mills urged that the Governor should either personally deal with terrorism or be empowered to appoint an extra Minister or an adviser for that purpose.

WHITE PAPER UNWORKABLE.
Mr. French in a separate memorandum expressed an opinion that it was impossible to separate Intelligence from the ordinary police and contended the experience of elective systems in India pointed to the failure of Parliamentary institution. Although officers were examined together, their evidence is independent and the views did not always coincide. For instance Mr. French expressed the opinion that the White Paper was unworkable and advocated the repeal of 1919 Act, complete abolition of Ministries and reversion to strong executive with legislatures only for purpose of advice.

LESS DRASTIC MEASURES.
Mr. Mills (who concurred with safeguards urged by Indian Police Association and while he did not represent any organisation believed that a large percentage of the Imperial Police Service of Bengal agreed with his views) contemplated far less drastic proposals. He explained that the Governor should have wise discretion as regards the appointment of a special Minister. The latter need not be necessarily an Official, and might be elected Minister, if the Governor was satisfied that the Intelligence system would not be endangered thereby.

CROSS-EXAMINED.
The witnesses were questioned by the Indian delegates with regard to the object of their proposals and the effect of their proposals. Mr. French expressed an opinion that Terrorists wished to re-establish the ancient Hindu rule. Mr. Mills said they aimed at complete independence.

Sir A. H. Ghuznavi who produced a revolutionary leaflet in support of the argument contended that their aim was a Socialist Republic.

Mr. French disagreed and said "Communist, and Socialist" were catchwords merely to screen.

Sir A. H. Ghuznavi suggested as the Government with law and order reserved had not ended terrorism, no case should be made out for refusing the transfer.

Mr. French disagreed.

OPPRESSIVE MEASURES.
Dr. Shafaat Ahmad inquired: "Do you fear if the police was

SELF-HELP AMONG MOGAVERAS

Backward Community's Efforts At Self-Education & Self Improvement

The Shri Laxmikant Natak Samaj, a well known local Gujarati dramatic troupe, staged "Samsar Sagar" a social drama last night at the Princess Theatre, Bhamburda, in aid of the Free Night School conducted by the Mogaveera Vyavasthapaka Mandali. The theatre was crowded with not only members of the Mogaveera community but also other sympathisers with the objects of the Mandali. Members of the Mogaveera community, of whom there are now several hundreds in Bombay, all hail from South Kanara District. They are one of the backward communities, whose hereditary profession is that of fishing, in which they are experts. During the past three decades youths of the community have been drifting to Bombay in ever increasing numbers in search of more lucrative livelihood and to-day there are scores of their families with women and children living in the city.

The Bombay Mogaveeras have, from the first, appreciated the advantages of education and so early as 1909 opened a free night school for the benefit of the boys of the community. In 1921 they opened a free reading room and library and since 1930 they are also conducting a day school for girls. These institutions which are entirely free, are open to all Kanarites in Bombay without distinction of caste or creed. The institutions are managed by committees which are working under the supervision of the Mogaveera Vyavasthapaka Mandali the communal organisation, which is now 31 years old and which labours for the general welfare of the community.

The report for 1932 shows that there were 211 boy students in the free night school and 42 girls in the free day school for girls. The maintenance of these institutions as well as the free reading room and library impose financial burdens which a poor community like the Mogaveeras find it rather hard to bear. Still they are facing the task cheerfully, believing, as they have always done, that self-help is the best of all helps. The efforts of the community at self-improvement are very laudable.

MONUMENT OF CHARITY AND BENEVOLENCE

Sir Prabhushankar Performs Opening Ceremony Of Chatrabhujbhai Memorial Building And Exhorts The Wealthy To Serve The Poor

A fine three storied building at Bhuleshwar, Bombay, capable of accommodating about fifty families and erected as a memorial to the late Sheth Chatrabhuj Jivandas, a wealthy member of the Kapole Hindu community, was declared open by Sir Prabhushankar Pattani on Tuesday evening before a large and distinguished gathering.

The building which offers housing accommodation to middle class Kapole Hindus at nominal rents is named after the donor as "The Sheth Chatrabhuj Jivandas Kapole Nivas and Dharmasala."

WORTHY IDEAL

Sir Prabhushankar in performing the opening ceremony said that the late Sheth Chatrabhuj by his charitable contributions towards the welfare of the poor members of the Kapole community had also served the country, an ideal which he asked the wealthier classes of India to emulate.

Sheth Hargovinddas Jivandas, the younger brother of the donor, in requesting Sir Prabhushankar Pattani, to perform the opening ceremony of the building said that his elder brother Sheth Chatrabhujbhai passed away nearly eight years ago. In his will he bequeathed for charities a fairly large sum of money earned by his personal labour and industry. He had also expressed a desire to invest nearly Rs. 2 lakhs in a building for middle class people belonging to the Kapole community and it was a matter of great satisfaction to him that that desire had been fulfilled to-day.

The present site situated at Bhuleshwar, right in the heart of the city and a business locality was selected and a plot measuring 800 sq. yards was taken up. The foundation stone for the building was laid some time ago and the building was finished only recently. The building was capable of accommodating 50 middle class Kapole families and the rent charged was purely nominal.

The scale of rent had been fixed at Rs. 5 per month for double rooms and Rs. 2 per month for single room on the ground floor. The rent for double rooms on the first, second and third floors being Rs. 5, Rs. 5-4-0 and Rs. 5-8-0 respectively the corresponding rents for single rooms being Rs. 3, Rs. 3-4-0 and Rs. 3-8-0 respectively.

HELP TO KAPOLE.
The speaker proceeding said that the income from rent was to be spent for maintaining the building in good condition. He

KURSONDAS MULJI'S CENTENARY

Bombay Celebrations For Social Reform

Preparations are going on in Bombay for celebrating on a good scale the centenary of the late Mr. Kursondas Mulji who, for his pioneer efforts in social reform among the Hindus of Bombay and Gujarat is remembered with gratitude by the present generation.

As a journalist, Mr. Kursondas carried on through his paper "The Satya Prakash" a fearless and unceasing crusade against the immoral practices then prevailing under the cloak of religious sanction, among the Vaisnavas Acharyas and Maharajs of the time. His propaganda involved him in the sensational libel case filed against him at the Bombay High Court by one of the Acharyas, from which he emerged triumphant. His achievement has been well summarised by the trying Judge, Sir Joseph Arnould, who said about him in his judgment: "He has done determined battle against a foul and powerful delusion. He has dared to look custom and error in the face" at a sacrifice and cost which could not be adequately measured.

EXCOMMUNICATED.
His great courage and determination in exposing the malpractices among the high-placed and the superstition among his community can only be realised when it is remembered that his crusade for social reform estranged his whole community of Kapole Baniyas who excommunicated him and his family for going against their superstitious practices. Mr. Kursondas was also the first to preach widow remarriages among the Hindus. His visit to England by "crossing the seas" in defiance of orthodox custom was another bold step that brought on his devoted head the wrath of his community.

A NATIONAL HERO.
Mr. Kursondas, who was born in Bombay on July 25, 1832, crowned his stormy and adventurous career with the high office of Assistant observed that in a city like Bombay the members of the Kapole community had settled in greater numbers than in any other city. Nearly 5,000 members of the community had made Bombay their home and the middle and poorer classes were always faced with the formidable problem of housing. The late Bhagwandas Narottandas made an auspicious beginning of providing suitable buildings for middle class Kapole families at cheap rents, and a Kapole Nivas on Sandhurst Road accommodating nearly 66 families was built. Following this example nearly half a dozen such buildings had been built in the city.

PROSPECTIVE TENANTS.
The fact that they had received nearly 300 applications from prospective tenants for a building which could accommodate only 50 families showed the number of such buildings was inadequate. "Our community too has shared the fate of all classes in suffering from the business and economic depression and in such times as present this building is bound to prove a great boon to our community."

LAST WISHES.
According to the last wishes of his late brother, the speaker said they had opened two Nivas buildings at Ghatkopar and also two sanatoriums, one at Andheri and another at Malad. Recently they had donated Rs. 40,000 to the Bombay University to further the study of technology.

In conclusion the speaker hoped the building would prove of great use to the needy among the Kapole community and asked for the blessings of the President and those present and prayed that the soul of his late brother Chatrabhujbhai may rest in peace.

EXAMPLE TO RICH.
Sir Prabhushankar Pattani declared the building open and unveiled a bust executed by Mr. Karmarkar, sculptor of the late Sheth Chatrabhuj. He said that the late Sheth Chatrabhuj had set an example to the wealthier people of India how to look after the welfare of the poorer people of the country. The building was a standing monument to his benevolence and spirit of charity and he had earned the gratitude of not only the community but of the country. By contributing to the welfare of the poor members of the Kapole community, the late Sheth Chatrabhuj had also contributed to the welfare of the country and that was an ideal worthy of emulation by every wealthy man of the country.

Political Agent in the Limbdi State in Kathiawar, which he filled with great ability and distinction. His death at the early age of 39 deprived his community and his province of further valuable services which were expected of him. But the seeds he had sown bore fruit in the wide spread movement for social reform which followed later. He was, in the words of Sir F. Lely, a former Commissioner for Northern Division (Gujarat) "a national hero." It is to be hoped that the Bombay public will show their appreciation of his services by celebrating his centenary in a fitting manner.

OWNERSHIP OF PROPERTY DISPUTEDParsi Sues European Woman To Secure Possession Alleging He Is Real Owner And Defendant Only "Binamidar"

(From Our Correspondent.)

THANA, Nov. 14.
Mrs. Jessie Grant Khambatta, aged 40 a European woman, residing at Napean Sea Road, Bombay, who figured as a defendant, gave evidence yesterday in a suit filed by her husband Mr. Munch-erji Cursetji Khambatta (49) a Parsi of Bombay, in the court of the first class sub-judge of Thana, praying for a declaration that the plaintiff is the real owner of the property (situated at Man-je Danda, Doongree, Palli Hill, Bandra) and that the defendant is only "binamidar" for him and that she be ordered to transfer the property to, and in the name of the plaintiff and to hand over possession of the property to him.APPOINTMENT OF RECEIVER URGED.

The plaintiff further prayed that the defendant be restrained from dealing with the property, its rents, income and profits in any form whatsoever and that a Receiver be appointed.

According to the plaintiff, his father, who died at Palli Hill, Bandra, on November 12, 1900, had left the property at Danda in the South Salsette taluka of the Bombay Suburban District. The deceased had settled the property by deed of settlement on October 28, 1893 for the benefit of his children other than the plaintiff. On December 14, 1917, the plaintiff was appointed one of the additional trustees.

PURCHASE IN NAME OF DEFEND-ANT.

Examined by the Court, the plaintiff stated that as he was legally debarred being one of the trustees, he purchased the property for his own use in the name of the defendant. He paid Rs. 40,500 by a cheque drawn on the Bank of India Ltd. on September 2, 1921. She was living with him as a mistress at that time. She had left the protection of her former husband and had not got any property from him. In 1923 he was married to the defendant. Their relations were friendly till 1932. He was in possession of the property since it was purchased by him. The management was also in his hand, only the rent bills were made in her name. Out of the monthly rent of Rs. 400, he used to give her Rs. 300 as her dress allowance and Rs. 100 were being deposited with the bank in her name. She used to sign cheques and draw monies for house tax, etc. from her separate account. In 1933 when he withdrew the safe deposit account, he found that the title deeds were missing. The monthly rent went down from Rs. 400 to Rs. 250. The present value of the property was about Rs. 15,000.

BROUGHT HER OWN MONEY IN CASH.

Mrs. Jessie Grant Khambatta, replying to the Court, stated that she lived with the plaintiff since 1919. She was on good terms with him before her marriage in 1933. She had got more than Rs. 4,00,000 with her former husband, whose protection she left two years prior to the purchase of the property. She was not divorced. She had brought her money in cash. The major portion was used up and only a little was left with her.

She had purchased the property from her money. She denied any knowledge that because Mr. Khambatta was one of the trustees he could not purchase the property in his own name. Naturally the plaintiff being her husband he used to help her in corresponding with the municipality. She was all along paying the house tax. Her relations with her husband were strained since 1932. She had her own box with the Bombay Safe Deposit till 1928; thereafter it was in their joint names. In 1932 she closed the account and withdrew the title deeds. Mr. Khambatta's papers were taken away by him. The property was in her possession and she was recovering rent, etc.

Mr. M. S. Rangnekar appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. W. P. Oka for the defendant.

The hearing was then adjourned.

SWEETMEAT
SHOP ON FIREHindu Residents Of Building Endangered

The Hindu residents of a three storied building at Gamdevi, Bombay, woke up from their slumber and rushed out of their houses in their night attire when a fire broke out in the early hours of Tuesday morning completely gutting a sweetmeat shop on the ground floor and causing damage to the building estimated at Rs. 15,000.

An adjoining shop occupied by the John Bull Bar was saved from destruction due to the strenuous efforts of the firemen. The contents of the sweetmeat shop, which were uninsured, consisting of sweetmeats, Indian delicacies including "bhajias", ghee and oil valued at nearly Rs. 700 were consumed by flames.

The building which belonged to a Parsi, Mr. Khodadad Karmani was covered by insurance. The sweetmeat shop where the fire originated was owned by a Gujarati merchant Mr. Ratanlal Chaganlal.

In response to a fire alarm raised at about 4 a.m. fire brigades from Gowalla Tank and Byculla rushed to Gamdevi to find the shop on the ground floor ablaze. The tenants occupying the upper floors were seen rushing out of their houses in alarm. The firemen broke open the front doors of the sweetmeat shop and piled their water hoses and extinguished the flame in about half an hour.

The ceiling, windows, doors and wooden frames of the ground and first floors were damaged by fire while the contents of the sweetmeat shop were completely gutted.

The fire was caused, when the womenfolk in the shop were cooking eatables on a big "shigri" the sparks from the "shigri" causing a conflagration.

Finds Udvada Faction Leader Guilty Of Defamation And Fines Him

Found guilty of defaming a Parsi teacher by alleging that he had led "the gay life of Bombay," Dinshaw Bhikaji Unwalla, said to be the leader of a religious faction of Udvada, was sentenced to pay a fine of Rs. 75 by the Chief Presidency Magistrate on Tuesday.

The case, which is known as the "Udvada Defamation Case," had a protracted hearing lasting for over an year, the complaint having been filed in September of last year.

The complainant in the case is a young Parsi named Mirza Minooch Dorabji said to belong to the rival religious faction of Udvada known as the "Dastur party."

Mr. C. N. Kanuga, on behalf of the accused, pleaded that the accused should be given an appealable sentence in order to test the case in the High Court, but the Magistrate declined.

The Magistrate said that the High Court had laid down that an appealable sentence should not be given simply because the accused wanted it.

FACTS OF CASE. In detailing the facts of the case the Magistrate observed that there is a school in Udvada, named Jijibhai Dadabhai Anglo-Vernacular School, for boys and girls. The school was being managed by the Trustees of the

In July 1932, there occurred a vacancy of a teacher in the school. The complainant applied for the post, and when this came to the knowledge of the accused, he addressed a letter to the Secretary of the Trust Funds, making certain allegations against him, and stating that the accused "was unfit for the post and that his appointment was absolutely undesirable."

As the letter was marked "strictly confidential," the accused was asked if he had any objection to its being officially placed before the Trustees for their consideration. The accused replied that he had no objection to it. The Trustees employed the complainant as a teacher in the school, but Sir Byramji Jijibhai, one of the trustees asked complainant to clear his name in a Court of Law, by disproving the allegations contained in the accused's letter.

NOT FIT FOR SCHOOL.

The material portions of the letter written by the accused, the Magistrate observed, was in Gujarati and read: "Further, I have come to know that one Mirza Minooch Dorabji has handed an application to you to serve on the school. If this be true I state that this person is not fit for our school. In the first place his age and want of experience as a teacher, and, secondly, the boy has led 'the gay life of Bombay,' thirdly, the person is the chief tool of the Dastur faction, fourthly, the school of Seth Jijibhai has up to now kept itself aloof from party factions and from party atmosphere, namely, the factional spirit prevailing in the village, fifthly, the girls learning in the school mostly belong to our faction, and out of them some are grown up girls; and it is the duty of the authorities and of the headmaster to take care and exercise supervision over these girls and preserve their morals and behaviour. And in such an institution this person is absolutely undesirable."

TWO FACTIONS.

The Magistrate, continuing, said that there were two factions in Udvada, one siding with the Dastur and the two Head priests of Udvada, and the other party which was opposed to the Dastur Party known as the "Unwalla Party." The latter party was led by the accused. The feelings between the two parties were very strained and bitter so much so that in the words of the complainant whatever was done by the Dastur Party was bound to be opposed by the rival party. The complainant was the nephew of the head-priest of Udvada and was at present 25 years old.

NOT DEFAMATORY.

The accused denied that the letter was defamatory, and urged that in writing the letter he was not actuated by malice. He wrote what he believed to be true and in the interest of the school in the welfare of which he was concerned. The accused objected to the translation made by the complainant of the Gujarati words "Bombaini Rangili Jindagi," as the "vicious life of Bombay."

He submitted that he merely stated in the letter that the complainant had led the gay life of the type led by the youths of Bombay, and that having regard to various things within his knowledge he intimated to the Trustees that the appointment of the complainant in the midst of a school of boys and girls would be absolutely undesirable and it was the duty of the authorities of the school to take care and watch over the conduct and mode of living of the grown-up girls of Udvada who attended the school.

"PECULIAR PLEASURE."

The accused further stated that between the years 1925 and 1930 the complainant behaved in Bombay in a manner which was foreign to the attitude of mind of the people of Udvada. He stated that the complainant was trying to freely associate with various grown-up girls at Udvada, and that in fact he was deriving peculiar pleasure in society of young 1930 he received information that in Bombay the complainant was not giving attention to his studies, and that he was more fond of girls than books, and that his conduct was actually being complained of by his neighbours.

NO DOUBT ABOUT DEFAMATION.

The Magistrate observed that the question was whether the letter was defamatory or not. Reading the contents of the letter he thought there could be any doubt that the letter was defamatory and that it tended to lower the complainant in the opinion of others. The Magistrate did not accept the translation of the defence of the words complained of that the meaning conveyed was "gay life of the type led by some youths of Bombay." To the ordinary reader the court thought the letter would convey that the complainant "led the gay life of Bombay."

The next question was whether the accused was justified in making the allegations, and, if so, whether he believed them to be true. There is no evidence that the complainant was the chief tool of the Dastur Party. There was no evidence also that he led a gay life in Bombay.

PERVERSE MENTALITY.

Alluding to the fact that the complainant, in a letter written to a friend, had referred to a name "Na Tha" which, according to the accused was a contraction for the name given to a girl Nathan Jan, the Magistrate said that according to the complainant that name was given to a Parsi girl by Minoo Patel, while Minoo Patel stated that this name was given to her by the accused. This was regarded as a sign of perverse mentality because a Parsi girl was referred to by a Muslim name by the complainant.

The Magistrate remarked that it was extremely difficult for him to say whether the complainant gave this name and further added: "I admit that it is not proper for a Parsi boy to speak disrespectfully of any girl or giving a Mahomedan name to a Parsi girl. That is wrong and improper. But to suggest that the complainant implied by this that there were improper relations between her and another showed the perverted intellect of the persons suggesting it."

SEA-BATHING INCIDENT.

Dealing with the allegation that the accused went for sea-bathing with two girls, the Magistrate said there was nothing in the complainant's conduct to distinguish it from that of any other boy whether living in Udvada, Bombay or anywhere else.

NO GAY LIFE.

The Magistrate in the course of the judgment also held that apart from the incident of sea-bathing, there was nothing in the conduct of the complainant to distinguish it from that of other boys whether living in Udvada, Bombay or anywhere else: "It was not alleged that he was immoral or visited brothels or associated himself with women of loose morals. There was no evidence to show that he either gambled at cards or went to races. There was no evidence that he drank cocktails or danced with ladies. There was no evidence that he smoked or played billiards. He never owned a motor car nor did he go for long drive with ladies for picnics."

NOTHING IRREGULAR.

"He does not ride, he does not dance. He does not sing. He does not play tennis. He is not a Cinema fan. He does not keep awake till late hours at night. He is a theatre goer. What then is the 'peculiar gay life of Bombay' which would render his appointment undesirable?"

Proceeding the Magistrate said that the accused relied on a letter written by complainant to a friend named Minoo on July 13, 1929. The relevant passage in the letter was "I am glad to know that you like Mary. There is nothing wrong in it because she is 'learned, beautiful and deserving' you are not writing any news of Natta. Give my respects to Mary and Ma Ra."

THREE GIRLS CONCERNED.

In regard to this letter the Magistrate remarked "It is true that there is a reference here to three girls, one of whom is Mary. This is a reference to a girl named Jahan Sidwa as I said before, these two boys foolishly imagined themselves to be in love. It seems that Minoo loved Mary. Minoo himself must have written about it, because the complainant writes 'I am glad to know that you like Mary.' True that her proper name is not used. But that does not mean that he intended any disrespect to her. He writes about her as to his best friend who imagined himself to be in love with that lady and he says there is nothing wrong in it

The Magistrate held that there was nothing immoral or irregular or indecent in the letter of the complainant and it did not prove that the complainant "associated freely with women or that he derived peculiar pleasure in their company."

The court added "Mr. Saher for the complainant contends that the accused was not aware of the existence of these letters when he wrote the defamatory letter to the Trustees: 'I agree with him.'"

For all these reasons the Magistrate held that the accused had no justification in stating that the complainant was the chief tool of the Dastur Party, and has no justification also for saying that he led the gay life of Bombay.

However, the Government attitude will be to have a full discussion and leave the House in no doubt regarding the consequences of its votes on the various issues that may be pressed to a division.—A.P.

CHRISTIANS

Accused Released On Bail

The story of how a wordy warfare between two Christians developed into a quarrel in which some members were injured, on Monday evening, was told in the Court of Mr. G. R. Khairaz, Presidency Magistrate, Mazagaon, when Robert Lazarus and two others, were produced before the Magistrate on Tuesday, on charges of assault and abetment.

The police, in their application, stated that two women, Rahelbai and Jalbai Daniel, were found exchanging hot words at about 7-30, on Monday night inside the compound of Holy Cross Church, Babula Tank Road. From words they came to blows and one Robert Lazarus tried to separate the two women, and put an end to the quarrel. Seeing that Lazarus was intervening, the husband of Jalbai and her sons who were witnessing the quarrel joined in it, and it is alleged, began beating Lazarus. Others also joined in the fight and some of them got injuries and were treated in the J. J. Hospital.

Later, both the parties went to the Dongri Police Station, where cross cases were filed by them.

The police-arrested members of both the parties, and later bailed them out. But as the above accused could not give bail they were detained.

The Magistrate ordered them to be released on a bail of Rs. 30 each, till November 22.

Murder Charge Against Khoja Woman

Was It Accident At Child-birth?

Medical Evidence Led At Trial In Sessions

Medical evidence was led on Tuesday in the case going on before Mr. Justice Kania and a special jury at the High Court Session in which Sakinabai Hasham Faza, a 45-year-old Khoja woman is charged with murder.

The accused's unmarried daughter Jainabai, aged 22 years, was delivered of a child on July 1, last. It was alleged that the accused had caused the death of the child by throwing it out of her premises on the third floor of a building at Pydhonie.

POLICE SURGEON'S EVIDENCE

Dr. W. Numan Police Surgeon, who had held post-mortem examination on the exhumed body of Jainabai as well as on her dead child was examined for the prosecution on Tuesday.

Examined by Mr. I. S. Hajji, prosecution counsel, witness stated that his examination revealed that the death of the child was caused by asphyxiation and fracture of the skull due to a fall. He did not find any signs or marks on the neck to indicate that the umbilical chord was entwined round the neck at the time of the delivery.

Asked how asphyxiation was caused, witness said it could be caused by a person placing the hand on the mouth and nose of the child. This would leave no marks of injury on the neck.

In cross-examination by Mr. Veilker, defence counsel, witness stated that on examination of the corpse of the woman, he could form some estimate of her condition when alive. In his opinion, she was fairly tall, her body was distended by gas and she was pathologically unhealthy.

You say the chord was not cut but torn. Do you agree that it supports the contention that it might have been accidental, owing to the mother being suddenly delivered?—No.

In reply to further questions, witness stated that if there was excessive haemorrhage from 7 p.m., it was doubtful if the child could be born alive five hours later.

NORMAL LABOUR

Witness added that ordinary people thought that haemorrhage was copious flow of blood. But to a scientific man, even a pinpoint of blood would be haemorrhage.

And what would it mean to an obstetrician?—Anything from a pinpoint to a bucketful.

Proceeding, Dr. Numan said that from the circumstances of the case, he thought it was a case of normal labour. It was a common experience for doctors to find that at the time of labour the child's neck is entangled in the umbilical chord. In the present case, he found no mark on the neck to indicate that there was a loop on the neck.

Some police witnesses were examined later in the day.

OVERTHROW CANDLIAN

DICTATORSHIP

Swami Govindanand Thinks Mahatma's Policy Has Postponed Advent Of Swaraj & Urges Unity With Agreed Programme

KARACHI, Nov. 14. "I am neither in Gandhian fold nor can be with you. I wish all those Congressmen who belonged to the Left-Wing of the Congress Democratic Party, which was organised at Lahore, during the Lahore Session of the Indian National Congress, where of you were one of the prominent founders should unite together on a commonly agreed programme with a view to overthrow Gandhian dictatorship, which has ruined the country's political life and postponed the day of advent of Swaraj by at least a generation."

In these words Swami Govindanand replied to Syt. Satyanarayan's invitation to the conference at Calcutta, during December. In Swami's opinion to declare like Jamnadas Mehta that you will return to the Congress fold when the ban on Congress committees will have been removed his sheer pusillanimity, and betrayal of Congress and the declaration is calculated to alienate from your party the best patriots of the country.

Swami does not believe it is opportune time for dividing the nation on the Council entry issue, and make the present chaotic confusing worse confusion. He urges Sri. Satyanarayan and those who see eye to eye with him to revive Congress committees and their executives and seek their decisive approval for his practical political programme minus the council entry.—A.P.

BADNERA MILL AFFAIRS

Managing Agents Contradict Kandalkar's Statement

Messrs. Kasturchand Dadabhai and Co. Managing Agents, Badnera Mills, wrote from Nagpur:—

"We have noticed an account, under the heading 'Unique sacrifice of Bandera mill workers', in your issue dated 14th inst., written by Mr. G. L. Kandalkar, President, All-India Trade Union Congress. Most of allegations stated in the appeal are absolutely baseless.

"Badnera mill strikers resumed work on 22nd October, and for nearly 1,100 workers are regularly working the mills, having accepted the 12 1/2 and 14 per cent. cuts. About 150 men, misguiding by the Local Labour Union, refused to accept the cut, and did not join work, though they were given full opportunity to resume work, on 22nd October.

"UNWARRANTED APPEAL."

The appeal for monetary help made by Mr. Kandalkar was wholly unwarranted. The allegation that wages due to the workers for work done before the strike, have been withheld is false. All workers including those abstaining from work were paid fully (150) for all wages earned before the strike on 24th October.

"Complete harmony and contentment in mill premises prevail."

POISON FOUND IN SWEETS

Two Muslim Women Released On Bail

Two Muslim women, named Sherbahu Pir Mohamad and Mohai Lowji were produced by the Dongri Police before Mr. G. R. Khairaz, Presidency Magistrate, Mazagaon on a charge of having given sweets containing belladonna to another Muslim woman. As the police wanted time for carrying on enquiries, they asked for the remand of the accused into custody.

In their remand application the police stated that the second accused went to the house of the complainant Zehra Khan Hussein on November 11 and handed over to her some sweets including pedas as saying that they were brought by her aunt who returned from the native place. The complainant gave the sweets to her husband and to a lady visitor. All the three of them ate it and all of them fell ill by the evening. They treated by Dr. D. A. Dastur, who certified that they were suffering from belladonna poisoning.

Mrs. Zehra Khan lodged a complaint with the Dongri police and pointed out the second accused at Kuria, as the woman, who gave her the sweets. The second accused stated that the first accused had asked her to hand over the sweets to complainant and she knew nothing about it containing poison.

The Magistrate ordered the accused to be released on a bail of Rs. 200 till November 21.

ARMOURY RAID CASE RESULT

Special Bench Confirms Death Sentence On Surya Sen

CALCUTTA, Nov. 14.

A Special Bench of the Calcutta High Court confirmed the death sentences passed on Surya Sen and Tarakeswar Dastidar and the sentence of transportation on Miss Karpina Dutt in the Chittagong Supplementary Armoury Raid Case.

Delivering the judgment their Lordships observed that there was no doubt that ever since his release from internment in 1928, Sen had been planning and plotting against the King's Government. The plans were put into active operation on 18/4/1930, when the Chittagong Armoury raid took place and were pursued by him with complete ruthlessness and disregard for the sanctity of human life, until the date of his arrest. He was personally responsible for the death of Capt. Cameron and Mrs. Sullivan. Their Lordships also considered him responsible for the death of the victims of the armoury raid.

Regarding Dastidar, their Lordships said that he was an active member of the conspiracy since April 1930, as a result of which a considerable number of the King's servants and subjects lost their lives.

In the case of Miss Dutt, their Lordships observed that the sentence passed on her was the lightest penalty which the law permitted.

Finally they agreed with the finding of the commissioners composing the special tribunal that the work of the police in connection with the investigations in this case was worthy of the highest commendation.—A.P.

"SARKAR SALAAM"

Superintendent On Hijli Jail Incident

CALCUTTA. (By Mail)

On enquiry from authoritative sources the Associated Press learns that the Superintendent of the Hijli Jail never insisted on the prisoners doing "Sarkar Salaam" to him. He, however, required, in accordance with the spirit of the Jail Regulations, that some form of salutation should be made when the men were brought before him.

It is further understood that some of the prisoners, while willing to salute the Superintendent in his personal capacity, declined to salute him as a Government official in charge of the jail.

THE BOMBAY CHRONICLE

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1933

SOMETHING WRONG

If the Bombay Mill-owners expected His Excellency the Governor to praise them for the way they have been conducting their industry, on which the prosperity of this city, and to some extent of the Presidency, depends, they must have been sadly disillusioned by his speech and the pointed references he made to their many sins of omission and commission. It is good to hear all this from the Governor of the Presidency, for the Mill-owners are inclined to be believe that they are much wronged by everyone by the public who buy their piece-goods even at a sacrifice, by the Government who give them increasing protection, and by the mill-workers who work on a reduced wage!

EVERYTHING BUT SUCCEEDS.

Sir Frederick Sykes said: "You have traditions you have a Government that does not turn a deaf ear to your demands, you have a labour force which is not less efficient than that of your competitors in this country. But there is no doubt that you will have to be ruthless in the execution of all that is unhealthy and clogging in the life of the industry you represent." No truer and more timely words were ever spoken to the Mill-owners, who have been posing all along as martyrs!

Sir Frederick was quite right when he said that the Mill-owners are never satisfied and are always expecting some more concessions either from the public or the Government. And yet the mill industry was never so badly situated as now. They have got very high protection, they have reduced the wages of their workers, they have got cheap cotton, money is cheap, and yet as the Governor truly said: "Always just one thing appears necessary to secure prosperity, and yet, when you have obtained it, it is found that something else has intervened and your striving has been in vain."

NO CONCERN FOR GROWER.

The mill-owners seem to have entirely forgotten that their dividends depend on the prosperity of the cotton grower "whom the economic depression has hit particularly badly." Not only have cotton prices fallen tremendously, but even exports have been reduced owing to the boycott by Japan of Indian cotton. In his negotiations with Lancashire, Mr. Mody had not the least concern for the cotton grower, for if he were really anxious he would have insisted that British manufacturers should undertake to buy a definite number of Indian cotton bales before they could get any preference over piece-goods from Japan. "Any contraction in foreign demand is bound to react further on prices and to make the lot of the grower still more difficult," as Sir Frederick Sykes so cogently said.

The Mill-owners have neither improved their own industry, nor the economic condition of the workers. We cannot say the same about the agents, though the catastrophic events in last few weeks in the city's mill industry conclusively prove that, unless the Mill-owners agree to put their house in order, the whole industry is bound to topple down before the onslaughts of both Lancashire and Japan.

BLAMING THE WORKER.

Sir Frederick Sykes had no difficulty in driving his charges home, for there have been a series of enquiries into the working of the mill industry, and the recommendations made by them have very rarely appealed to the Mill-owners. In such circumstances it is foolish to speak of any welfare work on a large scale. Even now the Mill-owners are not satisfied with the amount of protection they are getting, though modestly enough they have not taken the public into their confidence yet as to their future demands. If a protection of 75 per cent. cannot ensure the prosperity of Bombay mills, nothing else can. Yet, the Mill-owners are never tired of blaming the Indian worker as the most incompetent in the world.

"I would only say in this connection," Sir Frederick Sykes said, "that we cannot rely for ever on Protection, and we cannot expect the consumer to continue paying higher prices than those which would obtain in an open market. The consumer, too, is not unlikely to view with some concern cuts in wages and any forcing down of the standard of life of the worker." We hope the Mill-owners will take these words to heart and conduct themselves accordingly in the future.

NEEDED ADMONITION.

We are grateful to His Excellency for administering this timely admonition for it was urgently required. There must be something radically wrong with an industry which is unable to stand on its feet without so many crutches. If it has done good neither to the worker nor to the shareholder, nor to the Agent as we are often told, whom has it benefited? Very few cities have such slums as Bombay possesses, largely the creation of the mill industry! Such an admonition from the head of the administration was called for, and we are glad that Sir Frederick had the courage to give expression to his real thoughts on such a festive occasion.

Mean And Unworthy

The statement issued by the Patel Funeral Committee exposes the pettiness of mind which dictated the official restrictions on the funeral. The Committee submitted to the conditions because they preferred not to mar the solemnity of the occasion by an unseemly controversy and they felt that the responsibility resting upon their shoulders to ensure a fitting public tribute to the remains of Vithalpatel Patel was greater than anything else. But the attitude taken by the Government will cause the occasion to be remembered for long, which certainly will not redound to the credit of the Government of Bombay.

Though the Committee does not refer to Government's refusal to release Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel to attend his brother's funeral, Government's conduct in that matter was most commendable and had been stigmatised as such by non-Congress papers like the "Leader," the "Tribune," the "Sind Observer," and the "Daily News."

Suspicious Confirmed

The decision of the Select Committee on the Reserve Bank Bill to retain the 18 pence exchange ratio confirms our suspicions about that body's proceedings. The Government carefully constituted the Committee, and as carefully placated it now and then with concessions on minor points, but have contrived to score on issues like the constitution of the Bank as a Shareholders' and not a State concern and the exchange ratio. They may also be expected to ensure a sufficient hold on the Bank to safeguard British financial interests through the Governor-General's powers and otherwise, so far at any rate as the Committee is concerned.

It is said that the Committee's sole concern was to save the Bill from being wrecked in the face of the Government threat to withdraw it. If it were unreasonable opposed. By its decision on the ratio question the Committee has not only saved a Bill not worth saving

Press Views

Intolerable

It is difficult for any self-respecting Indian even to contemplate with patience, the new interpretation of the equality of British Subjects as offered for India by Sir Samuel Hoare at the Joint Select Committee. It is the deepest insult to India that he could inflict. To put it plainly, he wants nationals of this country to be the commercial and political slaves not only of Great Britain, but also of the Dominions. Commercially, his interpretation means that anyone can exploit the resources and possibilities of this country but that India cannot do anything save on the approval of Great Britain to protect, much less to advance her industrial development. Politically, it means that any Dominion can insult and threaten in every possible way the nationals of this country but India shall have the right to retaliate. And for this he quotes the proclamation of Queen Victoria. The wonder is that Sir Samuel Hoare did not blush while inviting Indians to be generous to the extent of surrendering their status not only to his country but also to self-governing units of the Empire—"National Call."

Sooner The Better

The White Paper is nothing short of a menace to the country's liberty. In such a dire situation, therefore, it is incumbent on the leaders of all "parties" in the country, to pool their resources and put a united front to the common enemy of India—the "White Paper." We should think that if ever there was needed a country-wide agitation it is now. If ever there was needed a practical gesture of unity of mind of all shades of political thought in India it is now. We need hardly say that for any opposition to be sold the strength behind should be real. A "national" opposition in the proper sense of the word could make an unreasonable constitution unworkable at any moment. The time has now come for a united front whether, Hindus or Mahomedans, Congressites or Liberals. It is a question therefore of now or never. Realising the momentousness of the crisis, Pt. Malaviya, is, we are told, taking quick steps to convene an All Parties Conference. The sooner it is held the better.—"Rangson Mail."

"Too Friendly To Britain"

The assassination of King Nadir Shah has excited world interest. The impression had gained that he was too friendly to Britain and the pro-Amanullah group tried their best to exploit it. It is not, however, in this phase of his policy that the true explanation of this assassination lies. The feeling grew that in dealing with his half-brother, Hashim Ali, a free hand should be given to the King who wished to consolidate peace in the country would have acted wisely if he had pursued a policy of generosity towards his opponents. But a King who also had to consolidate the claims of the new dynasty could never be too sure of his opponent's treasonable activities. It was a fight between these two considerations that led to numerous executions. Ghulam Nabi's death seems to have provided the worst offence and the enemies took their revenge.—"Roy's Weekly."

but in doing so has failed to save its own reputation or the interests of the country. If the Bill had been withdrawn, it would certainly not have been a calamity. Government would have been compelled to introduce a fresh and better Bill. In any case no real advantage to the country can be gained by the surrender of its interests on vital questions like the exchange ratio.

What will happen to the Bill in the Assembly is still an open question. That body has supported the 18d. ratio in the past and since then the Nationalist element in it is weaker because of the Congress withdrawal from it. But at the same time all the evil results expected from the higher ratio have been realised and both industrialists and agriculturists are now on in condemning the ratio. There are still some ill-informed men like Acharya P. C. Ray who are misled by pro-Government propaganda and whose views Sir George Schuster has duly exploited in the Select Committee. But if the national campaign against the ruinous ratio is made both intensive and country-wide, the Assembly may yet be expected to save the situation. That body should remember that once it adopts a reactionary Bill, it may be out of its power later to amend it radically in the country's interests.

BANK OF JAPAN

By B. R. Shenoy, M.Sc. (Econ. Lond.), Professor of Economics, Wadia College, Poona.

In the early eighties of the last century the banking and currency systems of Japan were in a state of confusion. There were then about 150 banks of issue in the country based on the model of National Banks of U.S.A. The competitive issue of paper by these and also by the Government to finance the measures against the rebellion of 1877 caused a state of monetary inflation; prices were rising, exchanges falling, and specie was leaving the country. Co-operative action on the part of the Banks was far from easy, in view of their number, nor was it seriously attempted. The money market was disorganised and the rate of interest both high and unstable.

CENTRAL BANK COMES.

The credit for reorganising the system, mainly in the light of European experience of the times goes to Prince Matsukata, the then Finance Minister of Japan. He provided the country with a Central Bank in the Bank of Japan (1882) engineered the migration from a silver to a gold standard (1897) and organised special banks to deal in Foreign Exchange, and provide long-term finance to agriculture and industry.

While shaping the Bank of Japan he took for his models the Reichsbank of Germany (pre-war) and the Bank of Belgium, more the former than the latter. The capital of the Bank was subscribed by private individuals, banks and corporations but the influence of the share-holders on its management was questionable. The important offices of Governor and Vice-Governor of the Bank were filled by the nominees of the Government. And the four other members of the Directorate were to be the appointees of the Finance Minister from a panel of eight persons elected by the share-holders.

SEMI-STATE BANK.

Even so the sanction of the Finance Minister was essential in all important matters of policy, like altering the rate of interest, extending the volume of discount to member banks, or infringing the limit of fiduciary issue. Thus like the Reichsbank of Germany, the Bank of Japan provides us an instance of a Central Bank with privately subscribed capital managed as though it were a State Bank.

The Bank of Japan has been of invaluable service to the Empire. It has never failed to extend liberal, although judicious relief to the commercial banks of the country in times of panic. Subsequent to the earthquake of 1923, to steady the distress, it advanced loans even against bills rendered uncollectable owing to the disaster. It was equally considerate during the banking crisis of 1927. During the War it freely discounted the foreign bills of Exchange Banks when the latter, owing to the general embargo on the export of gold and exchange res-

Frankly Speaking

WILL NOBODY MOVE?

The demand for a meeting of the All-India Congress Committee is growing wider and more insistent, though Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru may choose to turn a deaf ear to it.

About two dozen Congress workers of the Satara District have issued a public appeal urging A.I.C.C. members to send in a formal requisition for an immediate meeting or that body.

The grounds urged by them in support of the appeal are unexceptionable and have been set forth in our own columns again and again.

Unfortunately such a deep inertia has seized several A.I.C.C. members that they would rather remain passive spectators of the dead-lock in Congress politics than make an earnest effort to devise and work out a new rousing programme.

Some extreme right-wingers in the Congress actually wish to prolong the dead-lock as they hope that the reaction will largely be in their favour.

Only an A.I.C.C. meeting can prevent reaction both to the extreme right or to the extreme left.

VALUE OF UNITY

Pundit Jawaharlal Nehru's series of lectures and press articles on the various topics of the day may do some good to the country in spite of their more or less academic character, if they rouse healthy discussion among Congressmen.

His propaganda, however, would be more useful if it were a little more realistic.

Referring to the prospect of a united front in opposing the White Paper, he observes in one of his latest lectures that unity among parties having different ideals and following different methods will lead them nowhere.

An attitude like his will certainly lead nowhere. But when nothing more is really being done, it will be a distinct advantage if various parties, irrespective of their ideals, can be brought together to oppose the White Paper and promote Swadeshi in identical or varying methods.

The Pandit need not sneer at small gains, and the advantages of united Swadeshi propaganda need not be small.

IT SUITS THEM

The Government of Bombay have again extended the life of the existing Legislative Council by another year. This is the second time they have done it.

Are the Government sure that the new constitution, under the White Paper scheme will come into operation next year? All the signs are against such a consummation, for everything is uncertain and may continue to be uncertain.

Yet all the Provinces have now taken this step, and perhaps the Viceroy will also do the same with the Assembly.

It would be criminal to prolong the life of the Assembly, since there is not the least chance of the Federal scheme coming into operation for another decade—if it comes at all.

But it is the fashion to keep alive the present legislatures somehow or other and prevent new men from coming into the Councils. The Government after all, have got the sort of Councils that suit them.

HE IS INDIFFERENT

In reply to a question by a Tory member of Parliament urging the re-arrest of Mr. Subhas Chandra Bose, the Secretary of State for India replied that the Government of India retained "complete freedom of action."

We do not know to what "disloyal and hostile conduct" the Tory member referred. No doubt Mr. Bose has done a lot of pro-Indian propaganda on the Continent, but pro-Indian does not necessarily mean anti-British.

Mr. Bose, though ill, has done much work for this country, for which no doubt India is grateful to him. The Tory Party does not view with favour any patriotic work done for India in Europe, by telling the people the real state of things in this country.

Whatever it is, Mr. Bose is not the man to be afraid of the consequences of his actions, and he has been in jail so many times that he must have become quite indifferent to threats of punishment when he returns to India.

LIMIT OF SOPHISTRY

We do not see any reason why Premier MacDonald should be so angry with Mr. Morgan Jones for accusing the Government of encouraging the Japanese in their Manchurian adventures. Not Britain, but France and Italy are equally to be blamed for the present state of things.

The Premier protested that Britain could not extend her international commitments at any price. If nobody is willing to take the initiative and wants his rivals to do it first, then we shall have no disarmament at all.

It is the limit of sophistry to say that the "armed powers are making a contribution by disarmament, and that the unarmed powers are contributing in the form of increased security, etc." as the Premier did.

They are all increasing their armaments, either for replacing old ones, or for some other similar purpose. Perhaps, the world is on the brink of another war, as Mr. Wells warns us. Who can tell?

"RUN FOR MINISTERSHIP"

From Chotubhai R. Desai.

I was surprised to read in your issue of to-day's date under the Caption "Run for Ministership." The facts mentioned in the following paragraph:

"Rao Bahadur Naik comes from an agriculturist family and from 1896 to 1912 was in South Africa and as such was a supporter of Mr. Gandhi's Passive Resistance movement in that Country. This training helped him considerably during Civil Disobedience Movement of 1930 as during the Dharasani Raid in 1930 he not only resigned his Hon. Ministry but also resigned from the local Council along with several others."

I, who am well connected with Sardar Rao Bahadur Bhimbhai R. Naik, know the facts. Therefore I write to say that Durban in Natal and Johannesburg in Transvaal were the centres of the Passive Resistance movement started by Mahatmaji with which he had no connection whatever. He had not even seen the boundaries either of Natal or of the Transvaal. He was all along at Salisbury in South Rhodesia a place about 1200 to 1500 miles away from Johannesburg and Durban then a territory under the administration of British South Africa Company, where the Indians had no disabilities nor was there any occasion of starting the Passive Resistance Movement during his stay.

I am therefore surprised to read that he had supported Mahatmaji's Passive Resistance Movement and that training helped him considerably during the Civil Disobedience movement of 1930. He did not resign the post of Hon. Magistrate and his seat in the Council in sympathy with the Dharasani Raid nor the Civil Disobedience movement. In my opinion your correspondent ought to have ascertained the real facts of his resignation before he rushed to the Press. It seems to me that he might have been wrongly informed by somebody.

Kindly publish this letter to remove any wrong impression which the version of your Political correspondent may be likely to create.

Inconsistency Explained

From Terence Nunes.

I did not know that there was in the historic community of East Indians any individual so base as to throw stones at others protecting himself, strategically under cover of a "nom de guerre." However, "East Indian" compels me to change my views on the subject, and I hope he will not accuse me of "inconsistency." Every man has a right to adhere to truth, and "East Indian" ought to bear in mind that man, while in pursuit of Truth, more often than not, is compelled to modify his views, because of his limitations in the world of analysis, inferences and conclusions.

All that I had to say about the East Indian "Rival Addresses" was written under my name without any fear or favour. The mere fact that my article "East Indian" which is by the way too comprehensive a term for a small movement in the community, has chosen to taunt me from behind an assumed name, is in itself a proof positive of his cowardliness, and his consciousness of the wrong he is doing.

I admit that I did think some time ago that the end of the Bombay East Indian Association was fast approaching. And why? Because I thought, and so did many, that the Association, without the support and co-operation of Mr. Jos. Alex Dias would not command the confidence of the masses. "East Indian" cannot deny that Mr. Jos. Alex Dias was virtually the dictator of the Association. "East Indian" also cannot deny that Mr. Jos. Alex Dias made the Presidents, Treasurers and Committees, etc., of the Association. I was an eye witness to his power at the famous Dadar Meeting of the Association.

Then came the revolution. The Battle of "Waterloo" was fought. "The Standard," the so-called East Indian Paper, described Mr. Jos. Alex Dias as the victorious "general" of the Association Army. I thought that a war against Mr. Dias was a war against the "dumb thousands" of the community, and when Mr. Dias was actually forced to resign the Secretaryship of the Association I thought the masses would disown the Association.

I confess I was mistaken. Nobody raised a finger in protest when Mr. Dias resigned the Secretaryship of the Association. On the other hand there was a subdued feeling of relief in some quarters. I soon discovered that "Dias may come, and Dias may go but the Association goes on for ever." Hence my inconsistency which is a sign of consistency, if by consistency we mean allegiance to Truth. "East Indian" must remember that "inconsistency is the criterion of greatness."

MISGUIDED ACITATION

From C. L. D'Avonle.

People in Bombay who do not read the Madras papers can have no idea of the amount of misguided agitation that has been going on in the Southern Presidency over the question of Birth Control, ever since it became known that the Surgeon General with the Government of Madras advocated the establishment of birth control clinics in that Presidency.

As I have already stated in these columns the opposition against this much needed measure came from some Roman Catholic Associations, most of them insignificant bodies guided by zealous priests. Left aloft these simple-minded Catholics of the Madras Presidency, most probably, would not have bothered one way or other about birth control. But under the guidance of their narrow-minded priests they have held several meetings of protest and sent resolutions against that measure to the Government. As a counterblast against this unreasonable opposition, a monster meeting was recently held in Madras city under the auspices of the Neo-Malthusian League, the South Indian National Association, the Servants of India Society, and the Theistic Endeavour Society to denounce this insidious Catholic propaganda against a measure that has the support of the majority of people down South.

Among the numerous speakers at that meeting was Sir Vepa Ramesan, the eminent judge of the Madras High Court, who exposed the tactics of these Catholic opponents and vehemently criticised their views. As usual when Catholics deal with opponents, these Madras Catholic priests resorted to misrepresentation and vilification, to strengthen their case. Sir Vepa Ramesan handled them very roughly, but deservedly for this. He particularly singled out one Father Basenach, a German Jesuit, who is the prime mover of the agitation against birth control in Madras. That Father had the temerity to characterize all who advocate birth control as "vile, filthy, immoral, vicious and utterly reprehensible people."

Sir Vepa asked him whether such people also included persons like Lord Buckmaster, Lord Horder, Sir William Arbuthnot Lane, Lord Dawson of Penn, Dr. Norman Hare and other distinguished and eminent people in England who strongly advocate birth control. Sir Vepa pointed out that, apart from that, the House of Lords had debated the subject and given its sanction to the practice of birth control. Above all the Royal Family had signified their approval of it. "Were they all vile, disgusting and vicious," asked Sir Vepa Ramesan with biting sarcasm.

Father Basenach had written in Madras papers that gynaecologists of every country opposed birth control. Sir Vepa mentioned a number of names to disprove this. This shows to what lengths a Roman Catholic priest will go to uphold his views and force his convictions on people. Fortunately in these days he cannot always succeed in deluding ignorant people. Some outspoken men, like Sir Vepa Ramesan, frequently appear on the scene to give him the lie. Sir Vepa was right in saying that such people were false guides.

It becomes a German, like Father Basenach, to come to India to lecture people on immorality and so forth, especially in connection with Birth Control. The present condition of his country, Germany, is the practical result of excessive birth-rate. In its irresistible desire to expand to accommodate its large population, Germany caused the late Great War which cost the world millions of deaths and untold misery from which we have not yet recovered. Italy sent her over population to America, and that country has to thank mostly the Italians for boot-legging and gangster terrorism which is a disgrace to our civilization. Most Roman Catholic countries, Cuba, Mexico, Bolivia, Spain, Portugal, Chile, are in a state of revolution owing to the stress of the struggle for existence. Father Basenach would be better employed if he were to go back to Germany and argue with the Nazis who are mostly Catholics, about their crimes against civilization. Father Basenach should try and put his own house in order first before lecturing to Indians of what is moral and what is not, and lastly I would say that Catholics who have emigrated from their own countries owing to excessive population there ought not to speak against Birth Control.

Wazir Ali Defies M. C. C. Bowlers PILES UP 135 (Not Out) IN MACHINELIKE PRECISION

PATIALA (RAJENDRA GYMKHANA) 1ST INNINGS 269
(FOR 4 WICKETS)

The Patiala Team Scored 269 for 4 wickets as against the M. C. C.'s 330 all out. Wazir Ali was the hero of the day, scoring 135 in flawless style.

Throughout his 6 hours play he never made a single false step and withal the wiles of the M. C. C. bowlers, he refused to be drawn in. The Yuvraj of Patiala scored 37 in a full style, while Lal Singh who scored 21 remains unbeaten with Wazir Ali.

ASSOCIATED SPECIAL.

PATIALA, Nov. 14. Play commenced at 11-5 a.m. in the M. C. C.'s match against Patiala in fine weather and on a wicket which was unaffected by the previous two days' play. The overnight not outs Wazir Ali and Nazir Ali resumed their innings to the bowling of Barnett and Marriott.

At the outset Clark was absent (Nichols feigning in his place), but he came in after Barnett had bowled his first over and then took over from the Gloucestershire man.

Wazir Ali got two 2's to cover off Barnett and another 2 off Clark to fine leg, and a similar stroke by Nazir Ali off Marriott brought the score to 99 in five minutes.

CENTURY SIGNALED.

Nazir Ali then made the first boundary hit of the day, a powerful drive to the screen and a century was signalled as the result of 115 minutes play altogether.

Clark was making Wazir Ali play at him, and had Bakewell well forward at short leg, but the Bhopal batsman was cautiousness personified and appeared to find no difficulty in keeping the ball down against the fast bowler. Nazir Ali on the other hand was not very impressive and never showed that brilliance which characterized his play two years ago.

Marriott was changed in favour of Lengridge at 111 after bowling three overs for 5 runs, but Clark was kept on for five overs in which he gave away only 7 runs including one hit for four.

NAZIR ALI OUT FOR 13.
Clark did not appear likely to get a wicket but Lengridge was successful almost at once. Before he had a run scored off him he drew Nazir Ali out, and Elliott did a very smart piece of work in stumping Nazir Ali for 13.

Nazir Ali had been batting all for 65 minutes. On his day there are few batsmen who can hit a ground shot harder than he but to-day he was a pale shadow of his own self. He was probably allowing his natural desire to make good to cramp his real style which is unsuited to the kind of game that his brother was playing and with such distinct success, (117-3-13).

The third wicket had added 37 runs of which Wazir Ali had made 24.

The Yuvraj of Patiala joined Wazir Ali, who was then 47. The Yuvraj immediately showed that he was going to play with nothing in reserve. He drove with terrific power the first ball he received from Lengridge and got a single. In 10 minutes he had scored 10 including a two and a brilliant hit to the straight boundary.

Resumption of game was made at 2-15 with Marriott and Clark in charge of the bowling. For 10 minutes the play was very quiet Wazir Ali taking good care to familiarize himself again with the pace of the wicket before he continued his rungetting. This was the Bhopal player's third visit to the wicket in course of his long innings—100 minutes yesterday for his 31 and 130 minutes up to lunch to-day for his next 41 runs. Eventually he got into his stride and drove Marriott through the covers to boundary bringing his 90 on board.

YUVRAJ DISMISSED.

The Yuvraj greeted this event by pulling Lengridge for a fine sixer right over the press tent. This hit brought 200 on the board as a result of 245 minutes' play. In the same over the Yuvraj tried to hit Lengridge

Ex-member Of Parliament
Representing Bethnal
Green (North-East)

A cable has been received in Bombay from London that Sir Muncherji M. Bhow Nagree, ex-Member of Parliament, passed away on Tuesday morning in London.

Sir Muncherji Merwanjee Bhow Nagree, K.C.I.E., whose death is reported at the age of 82 was educated at the Elphinstone College and was a Fellow of the Bombay University. He began his life as a journalist, and later was appointed State Agent, Bombay, for the territory of Bhavnagar in Later he made England his residence and was elected as Member of Parliament by the Bethnal Green Constituency as a Tory candidate in 1895 and re-presented it till 1906. He founded the Ave Bhow Nagree Nurses' Home at Bombay and erected the Bhow Nagree Corridor at Imperial Institute, London, in memory of his only sister. Among his publications were the History of the Constitution of the East India Company (1871), and "Verdict of India, repelling German falsehoods about the British Government of India."

AILING FOR MONTHS

LONDON, Nov. 14. Sir M. M. Bhow Nagree had been in failing health for some months and died at his home at Cromwell Road after a short illness.

Obituaries in the evening papers recall particularly his membership in the House of Commons and interest in the Imperial Institute and mention that he built a corridor connecting the Institute with the Indian Museum in memory of his sister.—Reuter.

the Prince was walking away when he was called in by the fielder. Probably it was a catch off bounce, in the same over of Clark the Prince gave a catch to Mitchell 1, the slip and was dropped by that otherwise safe fielder.

Scoring was again very slow after resumption and 10 runs for 260 occupied 22 minutes' play, at the end of which Wazir Ali drove Langridge (who had come in place of Gregory) to the off boundary.

Stumps were drawn at 5 p.m. when the total was 269 for 4 wickets. Wazir Ali not out 135, Lal Singh not out 21.

Wazir Ali has been batting so far for exactly six hours and not even once did the M.C.C. bowlers succeed in getting him to make a false stroke. There were 14 fours, 3 threes and 13 twos in his score. The match will end at lunch to-morrow after which the team will go to Maharaja's shooting camp at Pinjore for a shoot there to-morrow.

Members Prepare Dissent
Minutes On Reserve
Bank Issue

(From Our Correspondent.)
NEW DELHI, Nov. 14. The Reserve Bank Committee having concluded its discussions, Mr. Taylor Secretary, is engaged in drafting the report and some members are preparing their minutes of dissent.

It is definitely learnt that on the question of rate of the following 10 members voted for Mr. Vidyasagar Pandya's amendment for one shilling, and four pence:

Lala Ramasarasdas, Syed Hosain Imam, Rai Bahadur Mehrotra and Messrs. Gopalprasad Singh, Azhar Ali, S. C. Mitra, Bhupat Singh, Vidyasagar Pandya, Sant Singh and S. B. Pant.

The Government had 15 against it. When, however, the clause in the Bill providing for one shilling and six pence was put there were 12 members against it namely the 10 members mentioned above and in addition, Sir Cowasji Jehangir and Mr. B. Das.

The last two and Dr. Ziauddin Ahmed are expected to be the principal leaders in the Reserve Bank Bill debate in the Assembly.

Mr. Mills agreed with Sir H. S. Gour that as the Government hitherto has not taken sufficient powers there was no guarantee this would not continue, even if law and order were reserved "except that Government at present taking firm measures, seem realise it a grave matter."

Sir P. Sethna: "Do you think the oppressive measures would stop terrorism?"

Mr. Mills: "I see no other method" and added whatever reforms had emerged from the White Paper, they would not satisfy the Terrorists who are completely irreconcilable.

Sir N. Carr inquired whether Mr. Mills was satisfied that if the Intelligence branch was separated, it could rely on the necessary support from the uniformed police.

Mr. Mills assented, because both the branches would be under the Inspector-General. After discussion this morning, the last witnesses are expected to be heard this afternoon, when medical questions be discussed.—Reuter.

ADVANCE IN GOLD PRICE

Trading Very Brisk On General Buying In
New York Market

(“Chronicle” Special).
Bombay: Nov. 14: 11 p.m.

In New York the renewed hopes of inflation, as a result of a rapid rise in the Sterling, created a bullish feeling on the Cotton Market, where trading was very brisk on general buying, which was further assisted by the continual advance in the gold price. The upward tendency was well-maintained throughout the session on fairly active trading due to a persistent foreign enquiry. January delivery was traded in at the opening for 10.09 i.e. 13 points higher than the previous closing. Prices advanced steadily on good buying, influenced by the steadily rising sterling, with the January delivery touching 10.13. However the somewhat quieter stock exchange arrested the advance for some time, but thereafter the market again resumed its upward trend on renewed buying.

Liverpool Wheat opened quiet at 52-3/4, 55-3/4 and 57-1/4, i.e. 1 penny lower, despite good foreign advices. The market weakened owing to the uncertainty of the exchanges, and business was extremely poor.

London Stock Exchange quietened down very much. Gilt-edged Securities were somewhat better and the 3-1/2 per cent. were quoted at 88-1/2, i.e. 2 shillings higher than the previous closing rate.

London Exchanges opened with the Sterling-Dollar rate at 5.17-1/2, with a very firm tendency, and soon spurted to 5.21-1/2. Thereafter it continued to advance steadily, touching 5.24-3/4.

The Franc opened at 81.87 and rose to 82.09, but later reaction set in, the rate coming down to 81.96.

The local Silver Market opened easy at 56/15, 57/1 and 57/4. Early there was slight reaction due to the absence of enquiry, but better Shanghai advices brought in some speculative buying, which caused a recovery and the market closed steady at 56/15, 57 and 57/4.

Gold market opened easy at 32/9, 32/9 and 32/10 3/4 and the market weakened on steadier Rupee-Sterling Exchange and gradually sagged on long liquidation. Moreover the prices developed further easiness on weaker Paris rate and disappointing London gold advices. The market closed quiet at 32/6 1/2, 32/7 1/2 and 32-7-9.

MORE LIGHT ON KING NADIR SHAH'S MURDER

Alleged Assassin Believed To Be Student, Fires
Three Shots During Prize Distributing Ceremony
Resulting In Immediate Death

PESHAWAR, Nov. 14. Authentic details of King Nadir Shah's assassination now available show that about 200 students with teachers attended a prize-distribution ceremony in the Dilkhesh Palace Gardens, Abdul Khaliq, a student of the German School, Kabul, stated to be the son of an old servant of late Ghulam Nabi Khan, fired three pistol shots while the King was taking the salute. The first bullet hit Nadir Shah's teeth and the second his head, both penetrating and resulting in instantaneous death. The third bullet hit the arm of Nadir Shah's bodyguard (Yawari Hazoori) named Abdullah of the Mangal tribe some of whose members are usually kept as hostages in the Afghan Court.

The police immediately formed a cordon and took into custody all the students, but on the intervention of Shah Mahmood, War Minister, the alleged assassin Abdul Khaliq with five other students were arrested and the rest were allowed to go.

The trial of the arrested students is proceeding.

ALLEGIANCE TO NEW KING.

Firqa Mishir, Governor of Khost is reported to have collected Khost wals in thousands on Friday last at Matun and explained the circumstances in which the national calamity had occurred. The gathering is reported to have decided to send its allegiance to the new King and accordingly its representatives left for Kabul immediately. A salute of guns was also fired in honour of the accession of Zahir Shah.

LACK OF CONTROL.

But the Bank of Japan has proved a failure in some important respects. It has not succeeded in making itself the centre of the money market, and it has little or no control over the latter's operations. The Bank rate does not guide the market rate of interest: it follows the latter instead of the reverse as in England for instance.

The lack of control over the market is due to two important factors. Firstly, the commercial banks in the country are not required by law (nor have they developed a convention) to maintain a proportion of their deposit liabilities as reserves with the Bank of Japan. Although cheque currency is not as popular in Japan as in some of the Anglo-Saxon countries, Bank money forms an increasing proportion of total money used by the Japanese and accordingly, therefore, monopoly of issue does not in itself allow the Bank effective control over money supply. For this, control over the reserves of member banks is also essential.

DISCOUNT MARKET.

Secondly, there is not in Japan a well-developed discount market. There was not a discount market at all in the country until 1919. This gives rise to avoidable inflation. Member banks, under the circumstances, by discounting directly with the Bank of Japan add to the available money supply instead of trying the discount market first, in which case they would absorb the redundant money, if any, in the market. Also the number of banks in the country being large, it becomes difficult to control their operations.

The Bank of Japan again has failed appreciably to lower the rate of interest or sufficiently to iron out the seasonal fluctuations in it. In normal times even the Bank rate is 2 to 4 p.c. higher than the official rate in England or U.S.A. The rate allowed on depositors by the banks is also similarly higher to the corresponding rates in the countries mentioned.

FOREIGN BALANCES.

Reference may here be made to the Bank's practice of keeping large balances in foreign centres. This has been given as an argument in support of the much deplored Government of India's policy of maintaining enormous sterling resources in London. It may be pointed out, however, that the special circumstances of Japan justified the policy pursued by her Central Bank.

The practice originated with the agreement with Great Britain in respect of the Chinese War indemnity paid to Japan between 1895-98. To the part of the indemnity kept in London was added the loan raised during the Russo-Japanese War. As in view of the habitual adverse balance of payments suffered by Japan until the advent of War these foreign balances proved of invaluable utility. The general embargo on the export of gold and exchange restrictions made inevitable the accumulation of balances abroad which only represented the Japanese surplus exports.

India's balances in London, on the contrary, are justifiable on none of these grounds. They originated with no war indemnity nor could their continued existence be explained away as being inevitable owing to unavoidable circumstances. And since an adverse balance of payments is an exception with us the net utility of the balances is questionable. The only thing that can be said of them is that they merely represent a financial aspect of our political serfdom.

NEW KING WILL FOLLOW OLD POLICY.

His Majesty Mohamed Zahir Shah, King of Afghanistan in a Royal Proclamation has declared that the domestic and foreign policy of Afghanistan under His Majesty's Government will be exactly the same as that of his late Majesty and his Majesty will follow the same programme of action and reforms which his late Majesty with the consent and approval of the representatives of the nation, has set before the country.—A. P.

STANCES OF JAPAN JUSTIFIED THE POLICY PURSUED BY HER CENTRAL BANK.

The practice originated with the agreement with Great Britain in respect of the Chinese War indemnity paid to Japan between 1895-98. To the part of the indemnity kept in London was added the loan raised during the Russo-Japanese War. As in view of the habitual adverse balance of payments suffered by Japan until the advent of War these foreign balances proved of invaluable utility. The general embargo on the export of gold and exchange restrictions made inevitable the accumulation of balances abroad which only represented the Japanese surplus exports.

India's balances in London, on the contrary, are justifiable on none of these grounds. They originated with no war indemnity nor could their continued existence be explained away as being inevitable owing to unavoidable circumstances. And since an adverse balance of payments is an exception with us the net utility of the balances is questionable. The only thing that can be said of them is that they merely represent a financial aspect of our political serfdom.

Healthy Appetite

by taking

Sanatogen

LACK of appetite is mostly due to stomach trouble, which in turn is usually a question of "nerves." Nerve-weakness prevents the proper functioning of the stomach and intestines and it is only by strengthening the weakened nerves that you can restore the proper functioning of the digestive organs and so, in a logical way, regain a healthy appetite.

Every particle of Sanatogen will actually help to restore lost nervous vitality, because Sanatogen provides the nerve cells with phosphorus and albumin—the building materials of nervous energy.

"A noteworthy effect of Sanatogen is a better appetite which is generally perceived within three or four days after beginning this nerve-food," writes a London physician.

Start a course of this famous nerve-food to-day. Very soon your complaints will vanish, your appetite will return and, thanks to the all-round strengthening influence of Sanatogen, you will feel and look a healthier and happier being.

DISCRIMINATION AGAINST INDIANS IN COLONIES

Sir Samuel Hoare's Evidence Before J. P. C. Causes A Flutter In New Delhi

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

NEW DELHI, November 14.

I understand that the Secretary of State has realized the offence he has given to Indian opinion over his evidence depriving India of the right of retaliation, and that the question now under discussion is how best to reassure India that existing rights are not to be taken away. This may be done by an India Office communique or by the Colonial Secretary, or by the Government of India replying to a question in the Assembly. Mr. B. Das, who has given notice of an adjournment motion on the subject, has tabled further questions with a view to gather the fullest information on all relevant points.

He will ask the Government to state: (1) Which of the British Dominions discriminate against Indians and deny them the right of citizenship; (2) What are the disqualifications that Indians suffer in South Africa, and how far discriminating treatment is provided in the South African Constitution; (3) What anti-Indian Legislation the South African Assembly has initiated since the adoption of a dominion constitution; and (4) What are the special disabilities to which the Indian residents of Victoria (Canada) are subject, and what steps the Government have taken so far to secure for Indian residents the right of Canadian citizenship.

MIDNAPUR IN COMMONS

LONDON, Nov. 13.

In the House of Commons Sir S. Hoare told Sir Alfred Law that he hoped that the matter of provision for Mrs. Burge would shortly be settled.

He certainly would deal with it very sympathetically when he received the Government of India's recommendation.

Mr. E. Doran asked what steps have been taken to arrest those connected with assassination and afford the magistrate of Midnapore additional protection.

Sir Samuel pointed out that the both the actual assassins there dead. He understood that nearly 40 arrests were made and thirteen people were about to be tried.

He said that in addition to personal protection for the new Magistrate, further steps have been taken to control movements of Hindu youths, while the Police and Intelligence Service have been strengthened.

The Duchess of Atholl inquired if the allegation was correct that the first official sent from Calcutta to Midnapore inquired not about the murder but about allegations against the Police.

Sir Samuel "It is grossly and entirely untrue."—Reuter.

GOLD MEDAL

TO

GODREJ'S TOILET SOAPS

In the ALL-INDIA INDUSTRIAL FAIR held in Simla 1st month, Godrej Toilet Soaps have been awarded the HIGHEST PRIZE, GOLD MEDAL, some of the other Indian Soap-makers getting certificates of lower prizes.

Read what the great German scientist, Dr. Aofrecht who is at present the head of the Chief German Institute of Bacteriology & Microscopy, says about Godrej Toilet Soaps:—

"I have tested Godrej's Vegetable Toilet Soaps and in my opinion they are such as would kill the Streptococcus and Staphylococcus germs, the germs of Typhoid fever and other resistant diseases."

Says Dr. M. A. Ansari, M. D., M. S. of Punjab. (Ex-President of the Indian National Congress).

"I have very great pleasure in testifying to the most excellent qualities of Godrej's Soaps. I have used them now for the last ten years and have found them better than the best soaps manufactured in Europe or for that matter any other country. I recommend them to the Indian public both from the point of view of their excellence and their being made in India."

Says Major Dickinson, late Chemical Analyst to the Government of Bombay:—

"I have tested Godrej's Toilet Soaps chemically with great care and I have found them perfect in every respect."

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS

The boxes and cakes of Godrej's Toilet Soaps are being imitated in many cities in India, so make sure before buying that the impress of Godrej's name is both on boxes and cakes.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Feeling Great

If you wake up in the morning feeling sour and depressed, entirely lacking in vim and vigour, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil or harsh purgatives and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. They can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The real reason for your run down feeling is your liver. It should pour out two units of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Your stomach is filled with gas. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, and often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two units of bile flowing freely and make you a "tip-top". They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts especially effective when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Always look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the Red Package label.

RISE AND FALL IN N. Y. COTTON PRICES

Speculative Buying On Weakness Of Dollar

RELAPSE ON REALISING AND SOUTHERN SELLING

U. S. Treasury Secretary To Announce Details Of Gold Policy

Bombay, Nov. 14. On Monday the New York cotton futures market opened on speculative buying influenced by weakness of dollar. The market was firm and fairly active on improved buying, influenced by buying on a reaction theory but later declined partially on realising.

NEW YORK MARKET. The market opened at a rise of 6 points and immediately a further rise of 11 points was recorded on speculative buying. This was the highest level of the day as the demand was satisfied by spot houses. Later prices relapsed on increased Southern hedge selling and operators realising profits. The market closed at about the lowest level of the day at a rise of 4 to 9 points. Spot cotton prices advanced 5 points at 10.10c. The New Orleans cotton futures market was fairly steady and closed at a rise of 4 to 3 points. Spot cotton prices advanced four points at 9.82c.

LIVERPOOL MARKET. The Liverpool cotton futures market opened at quiet at a decline of one point. Local selling on higher exchange rate was offset by limited Bombay buying. Later prices declined on hedge selling but again improved short covering. The market closed steady at a rise of one point. Middling American spot cotton prices declined 2 points to 5.30d. per lb.

East Indian cotton futures ruled steady and closed at a rise of 2 points. Egyptian cotton prices were easy at a decline of one to three points. The Alexandria cotton market was dull and closed at a rise of one point to a decline of 12 points.

GOLD POLICY. The Secretary to the United States Government is to make an important announcement regarding the present gold policy. It is understood that the administration aims to influence other gold currencies to a common understanding with a view to fight the present depression. In the meantime operators are uncertain about the extent of depreciation of dollar and show no courage to keep on the long side. Every advance is inducing liquidation. There is some improvement in cloth demand owing to rise in cotton prices but on the whole mill activity continues downward.

AWAITING DEVELOPMENTS. The Cotton Trade Journal states:— "The situation and outlook, so far as securities and commodities are concerned, are decidedly confusing at the moment. It would seem, however, that markets are declining not so much because of any particular pressure as on account of lack of more active buying. Just at the moment, even those having money to invest are disposed to await further developments, in the political and financial situation before entering into new commitments. One prominent authority here is calling attention to the fact that conditions in this respect are quite similar to those prevailing immediately after the national banking holidays in March. There was more disposition at time to sell than to buy, though those who engaged in operations for the decline, had occasion to regret their poor diagnosis of the probable trend of prices. Those who, because of lack of faith, failed to buy also had plenty of time to repent of their shortsightedness."

OFFER OF 4 CENTS LOAN. Messrs. Thos. Smith and Co. state:— "The market was steady on further sharp depreciation in the dollar and also the report that Government will loan 4 cents per lb. on option cotton furnished to farmers for ploughing up."

The following is an extract from our Liverpool friends' market report dated 1st November:— "In New York, fluctuations have been equally narrow, ranging from 9.82 to 9.90 for January, despite the Gold policy recently initiated by that country with a view to raising the price of commodities. Much scepticism is felt by Wall Street and industrial quarters as to the probable effectiveness of this policy, and despite the advance of the gold purchase price of from dol. 30 to over dol. 32, values of leading commodities have declined, and it looks now as if Congress, when it assembles in January, will force the hands of the President, and compel uncontrolled inflation, and while this would have immediate repercussions on those countries still adhering to Gold, the probabilities are that the effect would be to bring about an ultimate agreement among all countries on the currency problem."

PRIVATE CABLES.— N. Y. January highest 10.09+17 up (10-14 a.m.) Lowest 9.96 +04 up (at the close). Liverpool January highest 5.13+01 (10-15 a.m.) Lowest 5.08-.04 (2-45 p.m.)

Messrs. Drennan & Co., have received the following cable from Messrs. E. J. Schwabach Co., New York:— "Cotton Goods market active and strong. Mills buying at current levels. Hedging is still moderate and rapidly absorbed. We would adopt a trading position with a preference for purchases on all set-backs."

Messrs. Patel Brothers have received the following cables:— New York Cotton Exchange Service cable:— Domestic cloth demand expands on advance of cotton and other commodities. Securities prices firmer. Sales larger but restricted by unwillingness mills to accept current prices. Mill activity tends lower. Their Liverpool Agents cabled as under:—

Market lacks incentive. Messrs. Chunilal Mehta & Co., have received to-day the following cable information from their Foreign Friends:— Liverpool:—Small market. Trade calling slight Indian buying. Improved on American cables. Declined on hedge selling. Bullish.

New York: Speculative buying on weakness Dollar. Spot houses and South supplied contracts. Messrs. Sarupchand Prithviraj have received the following cable:— New York:—Moderate speculative buying, fear further inflation Government decision lend 4 cents option holders; are not inclined to change our opinion.

Approximate Differences

Bombay, Nov. 14. In sympathy with a small rise in New York futures, the local market opened to-day at Rs. 186 for Broach A/M delivery and declined to Rs. 155/8 on long liquidation. At this level there was scattered short covering which improved prices to Rs. 186. The market was dull at this level without any important business.

The advices received from Delhi regarding the Exchange ratio have disappointed bull operators. The market is grinding near the bottom and with any unfavourable development there will be considerable unloading on an unwilling market resulting in a decline in prices. The situation of the local market is risky and it will be better to keep even books for some time.

Liverpool Market was due to open at a decline of 5 pts. but opened at a loss of 4 pts. Dollar Cross Rate was quoted 5.18 and later 5.21. BOMBAY STOCK EXCHANGE

Unfounded Rumours About Another Mill Group

SHARP DECLINE IN SHARES

The local Share Bazar opened quiet to-day, and prices fluctuated within a narrow range. There was only limited turnover, and the tone was barely steady during the first hour.

But during the last hour there was a sharp decline in Nagpur and Swadeshi Mills shares, on heavy nervous unloading. This selling was influenced by some unfounded rumours about Tata Mills. However the general sentiment was soon affected owing to recent experiences regarding the Currumbhoys Mills group. There was a heavy rush of sellers which, in the absence of any important buying resulted in a bad break. As compared with last closing prices, Nagpur Shares declined by Rs. 30/- while Swadeshi Mills lost Rs. 21/4; but Tata Mills were steady at Rs. 20/-.

This decline had a sympathetic effect on the general list and all active shares experienced some set-backs. In these days of im-paired confidence, the custodians of the Stock Exchange, as well as Managing Agents, will do well to issue statements to guide shareholders and to put an end to all false rumours in the Bazar.

INDIAN PROBLEMS

Sir Samuel Hoare On Passing Of Constitution Bill By Parliament

ALLAYING FEARS

Ample Power To Prevent Repudiation Placed In Hands Of Governor-General, Says S. Of S.

LONDON, November 13. It is inconceivable that the Select Committee will recommend, or Parliament pass the Constitution Bill without satisfying themselves with regard to security of Indian pensions, says Sir Samuel Hoare, in a letter to Sir A. M. Samuel, M.P., on the subject of pensions.

Sir S. Hoare hopes the pensioners will be convinced that the British Government fully appreciate the importance of the matter, and have carefully framed proposals to meet the apprehensions. In view of the "organised attempt to exploit the pensioners' anxieties," Sir S. Hoare sets out the White Paper proposals to ensure payment and secure financial stability, and claims that ample power to prevent repudiation has been placed in the hands of the Governor-General.

PENSIONS FUND.

Dealing specially with the pensions funds, Sir S. Hoare says those established in the days of the East India Company and taken over by Government will benefit the White Paper safeguards, and as regards the schemes to which the serving officers now subscribe, he mentions the proposals for the eventual funding in Britain. He says meanwhile they are also protected by safeguards.

He dismisses as financially impracticable the suggestion that the entire balance should forthwith be invested in Britain, while a special loan is also ruled out, as there are other calls on India's borrowing powers, the extent of which for any Government is limited.

He says, the adoption of the suggestion that the British Treasury guarantee payment would weaken the credit of the new Indian Government. In view of the provisions in the Constitution, the British Government can see no need or justification for such a course.—Reuter's Special.

Mr. Keshorabhai Hirabhai of Umalla has been appointed the Chairman of the Reception Committee.

Ajmer Resolutions Denounced

"BETRAYAL OF STRUGGLE FOR FREEDOM"

"Mahasabha Not So Bad As Depicted", Says Malaviya

BENARES, November 13

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru addressing last night a crowded meeting of the Hindu University students strongly condemned the recent activities of the Hindu Mahasabha. He said that he had long been of the opinion that the Hindu Mahasabha was a small re-actionary group pretending to speak on behalf of the Hindus of India, whom it was very far from representing.

AJMER RESOLUTIONS CONDEMNED.

Nonetheless misapprehensions were created by their high-sounding title and resounding phrases, and it was time that these misapprehensions were removed utterly. Nothing in recent months had pained him quite so much as the activities of the Mahasabha group, culminating in the resolutions passed at Ajmer.

Going a few steps further the Aryakumar Sabha, which, presumably was an offshoot of the Hindu Mahasabha, had proclaimed its policy to be one of elimination of Muslims and Christians from India and the establishment of a Hindu Raj.

This statement made clear what the pretensions of the Mahasabha about Indian Nationalism amounted to. Under cover of seeking Nationalism the Mahasabha not only supported rank and narrow communalism, but also desired to preserve the vested interests of the group of big Hindu landlords and Princes. The policy of the Mahasabha, as declared by its responsible leaders, was one of co-operation with the foreign Government, so that by abusing themselves before it they might get a few crumbs.

BETRAYAL.

This was a betrayal of the freedom, struggle, and a denial of every vestige of Nationalism and suppression of every manly instinct in the Hindus. The Mahasabha showed its attachment to the vested interests by openly condemning every form of socialism and social change.

LABOUR VOTE OF CENSURE DEFEATED

Simon Defends His Disarmament Policy

LONDON, November 14.

In the House of Commons the Opposition Vote of Censure was defeated by 409 votes to 54, Samuelite Liberals abstaining from voting.

Sir John Simon declared that it was most fallacious to suppose that they were imposing on Germany in the first instance what was called a trial period, and emphasised that all other countries would be bound not to increase the armaments with the result that France would very considerably reduce her military strength. The Government still hoped that German equality might be established by cutting down as closely as possible to the present German level. The Government would do its utmost to secure international disarmament agreement.—Reuter.

BURNING-GHAT SENSATION!

Dead Woman Comes Back To Life At Cremation Ground

CALCUTTA, Nov. 14.

There was a commotion early this morning in Kashi Mitter's burning ghat when the body of a married Bengali woman (25), wife of a local lawyer was taken there for the purpose of cremation.

The Registrar of the Ghat, it is reported, discovered signs of life in it and asked the relatives to bring a doctor immediately.

It is stated that the woman was ill for sometime and was under the treatment of a local doctor. Her condition became worse last night and during the early hours of the morning an elderly relative of the woman declared her dead.

USUAL CEREMONIES.

After usual ceremonies preliminary to the funeral of a woman who dies in coverture had been gone through the body was removed for the purpose of cremation.

The doctor who arrived at the Burning Ghat found the woman alive and injected her with a stimulant. Whereupon she regained her consciousness and was taken home to the surprise and delight of her relatives and neighbours as well as the spectators that assembled at the Ghat.—A. P.

POLITICAL AMNESTY WILL BE DECLARED IN GERMANY

Hitler Means It To Be A Gesture To Pacify Foreign Opinion

(Special Cable.)

BERLIN, Nov. 13. It is understood that a political amnesty will be declared in the next few days, and the concentration camps opened as a sequel to Herr Hitler's electoral triumph.

The amnesty will not include serious political criminal offenders. It is understood that this is a gesture to pacify foreign opinion and encourage a more thorough study of present conditions in Germany by the foreign press.

The bells in the evangelical churches throughout Germany pealed for fifteen minutes tonight as a Thanks-giving to the Government's victory.

The evening papers stress the secrecy and freedom of the poll, the "Boersen Zeitung" remarking that the most determined and united nation on earth stands behind its leader demanding that Germany must no longer be treated as a second class nation.

"MEIN KAMPF" AS NEW BIBLE

Hitler May Make Gesture To Jews

(SPECIAL CABLE.)

BERLIN, Nov. 14. Simultaneously with the breaking up Concentration camps and amnesty to prisoners, there is reason believe that a little more tolerance will be meted out to Jews, according to a private communication of the Society of National Socialist Lawyers.

Every member of the Society must sign a declaration swearing on oath that he has read Herr Hitler's book "Mein Kampf" and familiarised himself with the basic meaning and also undertake that he or any of his family will not buy goods from the Department Stores, Uniform Price Stores and the Jewish retail shops.

The change in Brown Shirts' uniform will be one of the earliest actions of the Government. It is understood that it will be a mixture of the British and Russian army uniforms with a Jacket over the shirt.

The colour will be the Russian seal green but the cut will be approximate to the British army. It will be recalled that General Goering recently stated that Storm Troopers' uniform was not designed for warfare and useless on the battle field.

REICHSTAG TO MEET IN DECEMBER

BERLIN, Nov. 13.

The new Reichstag meets probably in the first week of December. Herr Hitler called on President von Hindenburg, Herr von Papen and other Government leaders to-day.—Reuter.

CONTROVERSY OVER ASSEMBLY PRESIDENT'S ACTION

Mr. Basu Questions Legality Of His Right To Adjourn Sitting Without Consulting Members Of House

(From Our Correspondent)

NEW DELHI, Nov. 14. A controversy is sought to be raised by Mr. B. K. Basu, member of the Council of State questioning the action of the President of the Assembly in adjourning the sitting of the Assembly from 13th to 20th instant without consulting the House and expressing his opinion that unless the constitutional remedy of proroguing the House on the 20th instant and summoning it forthwith through the Governor-General's command is adopted, the business which the Assembly may transact will become null and void.

Mr. Basu relies for his authority on the parliamentary principle that the Speaker could adjourn the House in accordance with the will of the House expressed either on a motion or on a question put.

EXPERT'S VIEW.

"This analogy does not hold good in case of the Assembly" was almost the first observation made by a high authority most competent to discuss the matter.

He added, "The practice relating to the adjournment of the House of Commons is entirely different from that of the Assembly. Normally the House adjourns itself automatically at 11 p.m. unless the rule is suspended for the day by a motion of the House. The House is also adjourned either on a motion or on a question put as stated by Mr. Basu. But in the Assembly under the standing orders the adjournment of the House is entirely within the discretion of the Chair. Sub-clause three of the standing order three says, 'After the commencement of the session the Assembly shall sit on such days as the President having regard to the state of business of the Assembly, may from time to time direct'.

CONTINUATION OF SIMLA SESSION.

"The coming session is the continuation of the last Simla session and under the standing order" about the President has got the right of fixing the days for the sitting of the House for the disposal of official business. There is no other standing order governing the adjournment of the House. The present President has on previous occasions held that in the absence of an injunction to the contrary in rules and standing orders he would interpret them in such a way as to suit the convenience of the members and as would facilitate business. Interpretation of the standing order in a way in which Sir Shunmukhan Chetty has interpreted does not therefore conflict with any provision of rules or standing orders and certainly meets the convenience of the members of the House."

FIRST BRIGADE OF INDIAN ARTILLERY

Hoare Sanctions Its Formation

NEW DELHI, Nov. 14.

The formation of a first Field Brigade of the Indian Artillery foreshadowed by Mr. Tottenham, Army Secretary, in the Assembly on Mr. B. V. Jadhav's resolution is announced in a communique which states that the Secretary of State has approved of the formation of an Indian Regiment of the Artillery.

The first Indian Field Brigade of Indian Regiment of the Artillery will therefore, be formed at Bangalore about January 1935, in replacement of the 14th Field Brigade Royal Artillery which will proceed to the United Kingdom without relief during the trooping season in 1934-35.

A nucleus of the Battery of Madras raised from the volunteers from the late corps of the Madras Pioneers is at present under training by the 14th Field Brigade Royal Artillery at Bangalore.—A. P.

HENDERSON TO RESIGN

President Of Disarmament Conference Disgusted At State Of Affairs

FAILURE OF LEAGUE

Britain's Refusal To Take Steps Against Japan In Manchuria Criticised.

LONDON, Nov. 13

It is understood that Mr. Arthur Henderson has already decided to tender his resignation from the presidency of the Disarmament Conference.

In the House of Commons Sir Stafford Cripps read a message from the Geneva Correspondent of the "Daily Herald" in which Mr. Henderson stated that he had not yet decided to resign, but unless the present most unsatisfactory situation changed, he could not continue as President of the Conference.

Sir Stafford declared that Mr. Henderson's statement showed that the Disarmament Conference had failed, and contended that the refusal of the British Government to urge the League to take immediate steps with regard to Japanese entry into Manchuria caused the first setback to disarmament, and led the United States to rearm and Australia and New Zealand to strengthen their defences.—Reuter.

DELEGATES NEGLECT WORK

GENEVA, Nov. 13.

It is learned that there is reason to fear that Mr. Arthur Henderson may be contemplating the possibility of tendering his resignation of the presidency of the Disarmament Conference owing to dissatisfaction at the failure of the governments to proceed with the work, and the absence of all the principal delegates from the recent meetings of the Bureau and Commission.—Reuter.

REVERSE GERMANY'S WITHDRAWAL

Action Of Govt. Inadequate, Says Sir H. Samuel

LONDON, November 13.

Speaking on the censure motion Rt. Hon. Sir Herbert Samuel declared the Government's action was inadequate. Government was hampered by sceptics of disarmament who were particularly powerful in the Conservative Party.

He dwelt on the powers of the armament interests, and urged the nations to make an offer which Germany could really be expected to accept. Germany's withdrawal from the League could and should be reversed, and the Government's policy should be directed towards securing Japan's return to the League, and the entry of Russia and eventually of the United States.—Reuter's Special.
